3P Professionals GmbH

At 3P Professionals we have a passion for helping organizations in achieving business value and corporate objectives through the application of proven project and change management practices. In our philosophy, passion is the underlying foundation or driver for performance, which in turn enables progression for our clients.

As experienced practitioners we apply well established standards in project and change management from associations, such as PMI, Axelos, ACMP, Prosci, and others.

By identifying generic practices in project and change management we can operate seamlessly across industry sectors while having access to international expert networks. Our approach: we create value based on a professional attitude and a strong customer orientation.

Our consulting services comprise a broad spectrum of activities while focusing on elevating the organizational maturity in project and change management, delivering project outputs and new capabilities successfully, and realizing benefits as well as achieving corporate objectives.

Our coaching is targeted at employees that are currently assigned to projects and / or change initiatives, because practicing (learning-by-doing) is key for improving on a personal level.
